Assembly Buildings To Add Additional Cost To Huge Plant

GROUP OF SIX BUILDINGS REQUIRES OUTLAY TWO AND ONE HALF AS GREAT AS FIRST ESTIMATE

The Ford Motor Company is going to construct its immense plant in Richmond at the earliest possible moment.
TO COST $5,000,000

It will consist of a group of six buildings and when completed will represent an outlay of $5,000,000, just two and a half times what it was originally supposed to cost.

This was the authentic information that was given out in San Francisco yesterday morning, and that also came through bond houses to their agents in Richmond.

ALL PLANS COMPLETED

It is also understood that the completed plans for the new buildings of the Ford Motor Company arrived in San Francisco yesterday afternoon and will be placed in the hands of bidders in a short time.

It is readily seen that Ford has not lost any time in getting action since the taking of the deed to the 62 acre factory site at the foot of Tenth street.

Bonding companies that furnish surety to contractors when they put in bids on construction work, and who also furnish bonds after contracts are awarded watch building in all parts of the country very closely.

The information that has been sent out from Detroit by the bonding companies to their agents in the bay section tells the whole story of just what Ford Motor Company plans are.

SIX BUILDINGS IN GROUP

The information as sent out by the bonding companies states that "plans are being prepared by the engineering department of the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, for a group of factory buildings at Richmond, California,
for the Ford Motor Company, containing one large building 70x350 feet of steel frame and concrete brick walls;
two story office building; warehouse, powerhouse; oil and water storage tank. Estimated cost of construction $5,000,000."

ASSEMBLY PLANT NOT INCLUDED

It will be noticed from this information that the group of buildings for which plans have been completed at the present time, does not include the two assembly buildings. It is understood that each of these will be 800 feet in length and 400 feet in width. This will add to the general cost of the plant by a large amount.

Another notice received from a bonding company reads
as follows:

"Plans are being prepared by the engineering department of the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, for a group of factory buildings at Richmond, California, for the Ford Motor Company. The estimated cost of construction is $5,000,000.

This information concerning the activity of the Ford Motor Company was received by the M. A. Hays company, representing the New York Indemnity Company of New York,
and also by Plate, Vaughan and Metz, representing the American Surety Company.

It is very likely that every other bonding agent in the bay section of California, has received similar information.

MEESE NAMED IN COUNTY SUIT

SON OF COUNTY AUDITOR DIES IN SUISUN BAY

Youth Swept Out Of Aid
By Strong Tide At
Peyton Wharf

Vernie Sullenger, 10 year old son of County Auditor and Mrs.
A. N. Sullenger, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Suisun Bay
at Peyton.

Vernie and his brother, Albert,
had been fishing at the Peyton wharf when the tragedy occurred.
It was reported that the lad attempted to ride his bicycle near the edge of the wharf and fell in.

Another boy plunged in the bay
in an effort to save the drowning youth, but could do nothing to save him, and narrowly missed drowning himself. Sheriff's deputies reported that the tide was so strong at the point of the tragedy that the boy was swept out beyond aid.

Chief of Police Charles Scud-ero of Pittsburg and deputies from Martinez had not been able to recover the body by dragging at a late hour last night.

Matson Liner Is Libelled $8,188

A libel against the Matson liner Maui for $8,188 damages was filed in the United States District court yesterday by Gaetano Enea,
of Pittsburg, owner of two fishing boats which he claims the Maui
rammed in San Pablo bay on April 21.

Enea sets forth that the two boats, the Providence and the Notre Dame were lashed together
in the fairway exchanging a load of fish when the Honolulu liner bore down upon them, and without altering her helm or sounding a signal, rammed the Providence amidships, breaking seven of her ribs and smashing her into the Notre Dame, which also was damaged.

In the ancient form of the sea law, the complaint asks that the big ocean liner be sold, with all her boilers, hull, tackle, mast and what not, to pay for the alleged damage to the fishing smacks.

The accident was followed by shipping interests recently asking a federal ban against fishing in the fairways. Fishermen at first protested but subsequently announced withdrawal of opposition to the request.

BOND CAMPAIGN IS ACTED UPON

Definite action in the campaign
to put across the $600,000 harbor bond issue, which will be put before the people of Richmond
at the election, Tuesday, August 23, has been undertaken, with the return of E. B. Bull, general chairman of the Citizens' Committee of One Hundred, it was announced yesterday.

Voters are informed that Saturday is the last day on which residents who have moved since January 1, or who did not register at the first of the year, may register. Mrs. Ethel Butler has been installed as special deputy registrar at the campaign headquarters in Hotel Carquinez. All citizens are asked to register, in anticipation of the election.

Public, civic, fraternal, organized labor, service club and industrial agencies are reported to have gotten squarely in back of the campaign, and have assured
Mayor Mattie Chandler of whole-hearted cooperation.

Under the bond issue the harbor channels will be widened to 400 feet, and an average depth of 32 feet attained to accommodate shipping vessels. Rail, and cargo facilities will also be added to and a new wharf constructed on the inner harbor.

Local Police Mobilize For Relative Hunt

It Was A Weary Day
For Policemen; Visitor
Reported Fresh

He's just a poor old Italian and although he is fully cognizant of the fact that his name is Carl Zacca and his age 77, he is extremely hazy as to where his relatives live so much so that the Richmond police department has volunteered to locate them for him.
Apparently those relatives are many and varied, for Zacca locates them in a different town every time he is quizzed, authorities report.

It all started yesterday afternoon when the Travelers' Al-society of San Francisco informed the local police that Zacca was on his way to Richmond on a Santa Fe train. Object: relatives.
Richmond's best met the old man at the train and formed a royal escort for him, but the welcome was mostly accomplished by gestures—for none of the police could speak Italian of the sort that Zacca produced with vehement intonation. They were by no means the only ones. A dragnet was thrown out for the proper sort of Italian. Hours went by and sons of Italy were completely puzzled from "Come sta" to "Addio".
Zacca did not speak that kind of language. He was a different kind of Italian.

Finally it was learned that Richmond's impromptu visitor hailed from the border near France. An interpreter was located at last and the police heaved a sigh of relief. But not for long.

Those relatives? They were in Berkeley one moment. In Stege
the next and even shifted to Oakland, but San Pablo was not mentioned police state. Oakland seconded the best bet after a careful count of the number of times the city was named.

Oakland police are mobilized for the important work of finding Zacca's kind and Richmond authorities are beginning to feel relieved. Meanwhile Zacca is lodged in the city jail and is reported to be doing nicely.

City Government Cost $943,053 In Last Year

The cost of city government in Richmond during the fiscal year ending June 30 amounted to $943,- 053.97, according to figures given out yesterday by City Auditor Marie A. Whitesides. The receipts during the year totalled $909,939.97, with a balance of $166,899.67 remaining at the close of the 1926-1927 period.

The general government cost was $78,075.11, or more than $6,000 more than the preceding year. A sum of $204,955.98 was expended for harbor work, the report stated.

The 1926-27 expenditures followed:
General government, $78,075.11;
protection of person and property,
including police, fire and building inspector, $221,851.72; conversation
of health, $11,351.40; sanitation, $28,824.56; highways, or street department, $133,441.83; charities,
social service and health center,
$7,500; education, including library and school fund, $29,808.89; recreation, $97,051.53; public service, $204,955.98; bond interest and redemption, $124,802.50. State and

COLLECTION OF FEES IS BASIS OF LAW ACTION

$910 Sought In Fees As Result Of Probe By
C. C. Grand Jury

Seeking judgment for $910
alleged to have been illegally retained by George O. Meese, county assessor, from fees collected for preparing assessment rolls for municipalities and irrigation and sanitary districts, District Attorney A. B. Tinning has filed suit in the Superior Court to recover
that amount for the county.

The suit was filed at the direction of the last Grand Jury. The suit alleges that during 1924, 1925
and 1926, Meese prepared assessment rolls for Concord, Pinole, Walnut Creek, Martinez, the Brentwood Irrigation District, the Byron-Bethany Irrigation District
and the Mountain View Cemetery district, charging them 7 cents per folio under the law and retaining the money.

Section 2653 of the revenue laws
of California declares County Assessor upon written request must prepare a certified copy of assessment rolls for small municipalities and districts showing the property within these municipalities and districts. The section also declares that Assessor may charge
7 cents per folio.

The suit brought by Tinning is important because, it is said, many assessors throughout the state have followed the practice as has Meese. It is therefore in the nature of a test case of the legality of collections of assessors for the preparation of assessment rolls
for municipalities and districts, although this was not the intent of the Grand Jury, it is stated.

The assessment roll funds have been retained by Meese, it is alleged, for the twenty-five years
he has been in office, but only three years are specified in the suit as the statute of limitations
is said to invalidate the others.

Choice Of Life Work Is Told Local Kiwanis

Emphasizing the necessity of finding the work that was best adapted to the personality and ability of a man, Bob Sharp of San Francisco, yesterday addressed the Richmond Kiwanis club
on the topic, "Finding Yourself."

He quoted instances of great men whose lives would have been failures but for the happy circumstances of adaptation.

The charity box of the local club was swelled by many forceful donations. Dr. L. W. Wuesthoff, chairman, gave particular attention to those who had just returned from vacations.

Two pleasing vocal solos, "Lassie O'Mine" by Wait and "Keep On Smilin'" by Maxwell, were given by Mrs. James Stewart and were heartily applauded. Emil Esola accompanied the singer at the piano.

A big watermelon guaranteed
to be as luscious as its appearance was raffled off as attendance prize.

Kiwanians on their vacation
who attended yesterday's meeting were: M. G. Moitosa, J. J. Barry, Men Malik, President Ralph BZer-
gen, and Al Schneider.

JURY CONVICTS W. C. HAMILTON

W. C. Hamilton, 31, salesman, was found guilty by a jury yesterday afternoon after 29 minutes deliberation on a charge of forgery, preferred by his ex-mother-in-law Mrs. Clifton Bradley of Richmond. The case was heard before Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado, who set Monday at 1:30
p. m. for sentence.

Mrs. Bradley charged that Hamilton forged her name to a check for $20 and cashed it with a Richmond merchant last February. Hamilton has been in jail since his arrest more than two months ago.

Shortly before the complaint,
Hamilton was sued for an annulment of his marriage to Ida Bradley on the grounds of fraud, that he had been convicted of an embezzlement charge in Cal-averas county, which fact he had concealed from her.

The charge was prosecuted by Deputy District Attorney James F. Hoey. Hamilton was defended
by Will S. Roberson and C. J.
McCoey.

Following testimony yesterday afternoon by E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist and handwriting expert, in which he identified the writing on the check as that of Hamilton the defendant took the stand and admitted
writing his mother-in-law's name, but declared that he did so with her consent.

Man Nabbed For Booze Twice In The Same Day

C. T. Cautiello, Pittsburg hardware merchant, had a bad day yesterday.

Arrested by Chief of Police
Charles Scudero of Pittsburg, Cautiello paid a $300 liquor fine in Pittsburg justice court only to be arrested again the same day by county prohibition officers on a second liquor charge. Raising county officers claim they found 175 gallons of wine at Cautiello's home, which was not discovered by Scudero when he visited the merchant's home. City and county officials were unaware of the other's intention to raid the residence.

Brought to the county jail here Cautiello deposited bond of $500
to guarantee appearance in court.
He paid an assessment of $500
to Justice of the Peace Frank Glass.

Romeo Silva Is Held To Answer

Held to answer on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, Romeo Silva, Richmond goat raiser, had his bail fixed at $1000, in the court of Justice of the Peace
John Roth yesterday.

Silva is accused of striking M.
J. Curtin, Richmond pioneer, over the head with an axe, inflicting severe wounds on the left ear and on the back of the head. Silva alleged that the axe was at his home, but stated that he struck
the aged man with an iron stake.

PROGRESS OF THE AIR MAIL

HE air mail, which has been a foundling of Postmaster General New, and is soon to be turned over to private operation, although not at present paying, as a whole, is reported growing in popularity. The country's increasing business and the need for expedition in correspondence make any backward step now impossible.

Encouragement is found in the fact that the overnight mail between New York and Chicago, which was started on July 1, 1925, is at last just about meeting expenses. Trade is both savior and saved.

The next great development will be the overseas air mail, and the profits here should further cut down the debit for the government in its splendid enterprise.

LINDY, TEACHER OF ETHICS

"MABEL PEACOCK, of Bayonne, N. J." no doubt felt all the family pride and aspiration when with her little knife, the other day she carved her name and address on the very material body of the Spirit of St. Louis, in its hangar at Hasbrouck Height.

But the gallant colonel (whom some persons may now think ungallant) has ordered that sandpaper be used in an effort to rub out the defacement.

Fame is notoriously "flitting," but at least the excrement kind, of which the Miss Peacocks of life are the exponents, is certainly not to be "flying," so far as Lindy is concerned. Which is well.

The old time song which ran "My Bonnie lies over the ocean" may soon be succeeded by one which will go, "My Bonnie flies over the ocean."

Some like a family physician who tells them that automobilism is more healthful than walking.—Tedo Blade.

George Washington may not have been able to tell a lie, but his biographers do not suffer from the same complaint.—Hartford Courant.

The automobile industry should look into recent reports that more accident occur when automobiles are standing still than when running.

The country seems to be hewing to the line and letting the subpoenas fall where they will.

What it's all about

By PAUL ALLEN

TWO SERIOUS RACIAL MIS- understandings are happily wiped out. One the most important is the apology of Henry Ford to the Jews of the country for the attack published in his newspaper against members of that race. The other, by Christian intercession, the Kings County hospital, puts the quietus on similar antagonism in that institution. These are two good moves to make America safe for Americans. What our nation needs more than anything else is inter-racial and inter-religious friendliness and understanding. The old Colonial motto, "United we stand, divided we fall," is just as true now as it was in 1776.

MUCH FRIENDLY COMMENT has appeared concerning the eighty-eighth birthday of John D. Rockefeller. The striking point is that this eminent man has shown sufficient self-control to overcome the tremendous handicap of immense wealth. Most men, when they acquire fortune, relax physically, permitting their bodies to go to seed. Mr. Rockefeller has for years kept his physique in vibrant condition by paying attention to the fundamental rules of health—proper diet, proper exercise, proper sleep and freedom from worry.

ANY OTHER MAN CAN DO AS much for himself. It is not necessary to possess millions to live in simple natural foods, to take simple exercises, to get to bed without supporting the night clubs and to look dull care outside the bedroom.

PERHAPS YOU THINK THAT if you had several million dollars you wouldn't worry, either. Possession of money has little or nothing to do with worry. If a man's mental fustigued, he's likely to remain one no matter how much cash he accumulates. If his heart is light, it is likely to remain light no matter how low his finances sink. Every man of wealth with whom this writer has been fairly intimate has confessed that the greatest of all his worries was his money.

DOGS ARE LEAVING A DOGS' life in Montreal. Due to a rabies scare more than 13,000 household pets have been put to death in the poison gas chamber. If dogs are dangerous, rats, mice and other vermin are infinitely more dangerous. Dogs can be watched and their activities curbed if they seem to be sick. Sick rats and mice spread disease wholesale without being detected. If municipal authorities are really anxious to do something important for public health they will poison the pests and leave the pets alone.

FROM CHICAGO COMES WORD of a boy who committed suicide "because of over-study" after school had closed. Suicides are due not to intense thinking, but to wrong thinking and to depression brought on by physical ailments. The way to prevent suicides is to teach straight thinking and clean living.

KNOWN HIS GROCERIES A young married couple were looking for a site to build their first home. They came to a beautiful place. Said she: "Let us locate here." But the bridegroom wished to go further. They came to a grander scene, and she exclaimed: "Oh, how wonderful, let's build here." The groom, however, wished to go still further, until they finally came to the most picturesque spot of all. "What do you think of this place?" he asked. "I like it," she declared. "Then we will build here," he declared. MISS E. WILDEFUR

What Your FACE TELLS

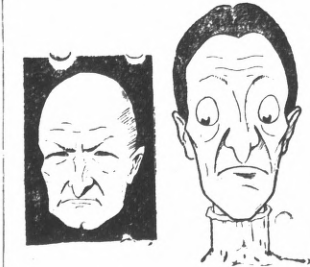

c. 1927- by Betty Morrison PSYD.

What a man continually thinks about he becomes. Personality is the expression of mind. It is easy to tell by a man's face the type of thoughts he has been entertaining, for thought are boomerangs and they hit the face and body hard.

These folk have magnified their burdens and the obligations that have fallen upon them, permitted the cares of life to oppress them until they have become hardened. Their thoughts have been negative and cold. Any one can tell that they have not been looking onto the beautiful fields of life where flowers bloom and birds sing. They are steeped in hate, jealousy and suspicion. They criticize, envy, blame and find fault with everything around them; they are unsuccessful, and lay their failures all to Fate.

"Just suppose all the sunshine and love you know springs from the seeds of the smiles they sow." If you look like this, change your mental attitude. No frown ever made a heart glad. No bitter complaining ever lightened a burden or made a rough road smooth.

It is not always easy to make yourself merry and happy when everything seems to be out of harmony, but by practice and effort one can learn to keep negative thoughts from dominating, by refusing to allow your better judgment to tolerate them. Remember, "As a man thinketh so is he."

Hollywood Blasts Hopes Of Beautiful Contest Winner

Editor's Note: This paper today continues the true story of a picture star who was in a Mid-Western town in 1925 to "crash" the movies in Hollywood.

Chapter 2 When the "stuffed ball" had been counted I was adjudged "Miss" the most beautiful girl of my native city.

The homage due a queen was mine. Miliner and modistes, shoe shops and beauty parlor, with each other to supply a wardrobe suitable for a girl who was going to Hollywood to become Mary Pickford or perhaps Gloria Swanson.

The Mayor received me at the City Hall. I was dined and feted. I unveiled a monument. I presided at the dedication of our new fire house. A baby was named after me. My photograph was the centerpiece of every shop window display on Main street.

The honored words of a press agent who "told up" the local company, was music to my ears. "You'll be a sensation in California." With a donated wardrobe, a one-way ticket to Los Angeles and $75, the latter my own savings, I embarked a few days later for the promised land.

My first disappointment came when nobody met me at the journey's end. Registering at a hotel, I went to my studio next morning. After a weary wait with other girls, I saw the director.

COOL RECEPTION He didn't know me. With a far-away expression in his eyes he drawled:

"You're not the type!" "That was a curtly dismissal when my contract had ended. With a week's pay—$50—I set out on a round of other studios. No luck. Everywhere I went was the greeting: "No casting today."

Abject and nearly penniless, with less than $5 in my pockets, I turned back to Hollywood and its studios to take a job in Ross Brothers cafeteria, in Los Angeles.

From the girls there—disillusioned picture aspirants like myself—I got a further insight on cruel Hollywood and the fate of scores of young girls who fling themselves against that barrier, "Success in the Movies."

"Oh, yes, Miss—You want to be a picture star? Well, we'll see what we can do for you."

Calling an assistant—they term them "yes men" in Hollywood, the Great Director told him: "See if she has any possibilities. She's had no experience. Don't bother me with her now."

"Then in an aside, which I overheard, the Great Director muttered to another man:

"Damn these beauty contests! It's a shame to deceive these kids. I'd better make them tell the real truth."

Reporting for duty each morning, I loitered on the lot until my six weeks' contract had expired. Once I got a part in a mob scene, I immediately wrote home, telling them the name of the picture. Later I learned the shot in which I appeared had been eliminated.

"Sorry—you're not the type!" "That was a curtly dismissal when my contract had ended. With a week's pay—$50—I set out on a round of other studios. No luck. Everywhere I went was the greeting: "No casting today."

DRESSING GOWNS-PAJAMAS

Velvet both printed and plain is being shown for autumn dressing gowns and pajamas. It is combined with crepe satin or crepe de chine. Lame is another material favored for tea gowns with lace. Entire pajamas of crepe satin are shown by many houses.

Taffeta is used for dressing gowns lined with crepe de chine or georgette. Pastel colors such as orchid, mauve, pale green, pale old rose, peach, etc., are used for these garments.

The same colors in brighter tones are used for pajamas, also a lot of black. Many coats of velvet are lined with crepe satin for mannish-looking dressing gowns.

When a Man Loves

By ALLIE LOVE MILES

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. John Barrymore in "WHEN A MAN LOVES" is a Warner Bros. Production of this novel.

Comes to his hands there, in the ancient university of Antens, in old France, the Comte Fabien des Rivoirs, a noble youth, as handsome as good, carries the Paris coach which will carry him to St. Louis where he will complete his training for the priesthood. His friend, Thorge keeps him company. Meanwhile, in the lumbering diligence as it nears Antens, rides a beautiful young orphan, Manon, a peasant, being taken to a convent by her only relative, a brother in the Guards, who doesn't want to be bothered with her. Another passenger, the Comte de Rivoir, a connoisseur of women, furtively watches her.

CHAPTER I—Continued In his avarice and imagination the Comte was picturing how doubly magnificent she would be if his money was sent out to bring in the luxuries her beauty deserved. As his eyes traveled back to Manon's lap he saw that she was having difficulty in keeping her small pet kitten in its basket.

"Ah, an interesting situation," thought the Comte. "Neither the charming mistress nor her pet relish confinement—and the convent will be just as narrow for the young lady as her basket is for the kitten—I wonder—"

And it was just at this moment that Manon's kitten gave a leap for freedom and landed on Comte de Rivoir's lap.

The Comte straightened up and grasped the little animal in his long nervous fingers, as if determined to keep in his power, at that moment, something that belonged to Manon. With more intimacy than the occasion demanded the Comte smiled straight into her eyes and said, "I am afraid your pet does not want to be hidden away, and she is right."

But there he was holding the basket on her lap.

when it means that she would be out of your hands and sight." "Oh, I'm not a mind," replied Manon with a timid little smile, not in the least understanding the Comte's hidden meaning.

However, her brother heard and slowly opened his lazy eyes to take in the little scene. As he noted the wealthy man's interest in his sister, Lescaut's bored manner faded away. A half finished yawn instead of a yawn, he turned his eyes to the kitten. But the little feline was not pleased at being handled by a stranger and arching her back she curled up her little pink lip at the Comte—as if to say, "Hands off!"

"Fill, dear, that is not one bit polite," admonished Manon, looking up apologetically at the Comte; but her smile faded away when she saw something in his face that she did not like, something that made her drop her gaze and devote all her attention to restoring the kitten to its basket.

No one had ever looked at Manon like that before. It seemed as though the man had turned his eyes a little inside out—they bulged, he blinked and watered. It was a hideous sight and Manon suddenly decided that there was something about this man that filled her with terror—and she could not look at him again. But the he was holding the basket on her lap, his hands pressing unobtrusively against her, waiting for the pet to be locked away. She looked appealingly at her brother, but if he saw her distress he gave no sign; he only smiled and nodded his head in approval. Manon was seized with a desire to strike the man's hands away from her; yet her brother was not annoyed, so she decided it would be foolish and rude as the Comte seemed to be only offering him.

Hastily, and at the same time gently, she forced her kitten into the basket, then lifted it quickly from her knees so there would no longer be any necessity for the sister's frowning and he watched her with growing interest, narrowed his eyes and a lascivious expression. Her flower like face, a little saddened, made him ask out of curiosity rather than love: "Why so melancholy, little one?" "It is almost time for us to part and I dislike being left alone—I mean that it makes me sad."

"So you dislike being left alone, eh? Well, would you?" But Comte de Rivoir, looking at Manon, Lescaut quickly stole a glance at Comte de Rivoir and really asked the question of him.

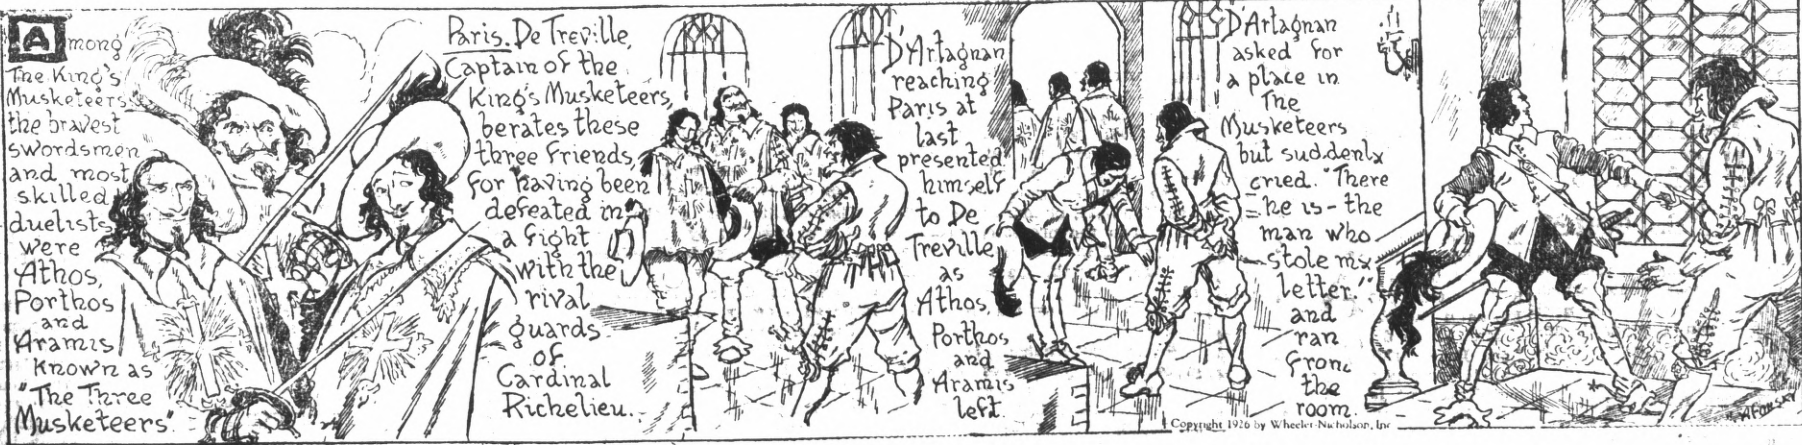

It was just a flash of understanding between two men of the world in the presence of a young girl who did not grasp the situation at all. But the one look that darted between the greedy and unscrupulous brother and the licentious banker planted a thought that was destined to cause great adventure and untold heartaches.

CHAPTER II Comte de Rivoir acknowledged Lescaut's question by slowly nodding his head and sensuously stroking his lips. Lescaut suddenly straightened up. He was no longer bored. His lips formed into a whistle and he almost let it out in his excitement.

Here he was just on the ace of throwing away his most valuable stake! His little sister—Manon—now had a new value for him. He looked at her critically and with an awakened interest. He smiled to himself as he watched the Comte devouring her with his eyes; a charming and perhaps profitable little drama of which Manon was wholly innocent.

Manon suddenly realized that her brother was staring at her. Glancing up she caught his eye and he quickly changed his expression. She reached over and trustfully nestled her hand in her brother's with a sigh of contentment. "Well, little one, if you hate to leave me as much as that—how would you like to spend the night in the inn?" asked Lescaut. "We can have dinner and breakfast together before time to retire to the convent." (To be continued)

COLMAN SCORES HUGE TRIUMPH AT CALIFORNIA

Presenting the face, the beauty, and the glory of the screen in the days when motion picture nobles ruled and commercial and direct salesmen were the only ones who counted, is the story of the life of Ronald Colman, which opened at the California Theatre last night, scored another triumph for that greatest of all living actors, Ronald Colman, and his picture.

The picture is a production of today, but it is a romance of the past, that is, a story of a man who was not held in leash by conventional ideas of propriety and fastidiousness. It is a story of a man who was not held in leash by conventional ideas of propriety and fastidiousness. Miss Banky, whose blonde beauty is described upon our shores as being only a little over the top, is a perfect actress, which should make her the greatest of the screen stars in America. As the picture "The Night of Love" is a story of a man who was not held in leash by conventional ideas of propriety and fastidiousness. CLARA BOW IN "IT" SHOWING AT RICHMOND

Comedy in Clara Bow's liveliest manner is the chief ingredient of the picture "IT," which opened at the Richmond theatre last night. A vigorous soap air, possessing the unusual power of "IT," an intimate observation said to exclude from certain human beings making them accessible to all with whom they come in contact is the picture's chief feature. With the aid of this strange power she wins the attention of the president of the department store in which she works and causes him to fall in love with her. The romance and misunderstanding between them, leading up to a marriage and a wreck and rescue far out on the ocean, is presented with exceptional skill and finish. Miss Bow's picture plays the leading role, Julia Swaine, and the supporting cast includes Gladstone and the cast. Other film features on the same program include "Fresh Eggs," a touring comedy; and the picture "The New Events."

BARREL HOUSE WINS S. O. CHAMPIONSHIP

REFINERS LOSE DECIDING GAME BY 5-4 SCORE

Barrel House	W. L. Pct.
Refiners	3 3 .727
Mechanics	7 5 .583
All Standards	4 7 .364
	3 7 .300

Willis Butler's Barrel House tossers are the 1927 champions of the Standard Oil twilight league. Staging a thrilling seventh-inning rally that netted them five runs and gave them a lead that the Refiners were unable to overcome with a rally in their own half of the last inning, the Barrel House players earned their championship honors after one of the greatest games ever played in the local circuit.

To Ray Fitzgerald, a big, slow, easy-going sort of chap, goes most of the glory for winning the contest for the Barrel House. For it was Ray, who, to the last inning, delivered a sharp single to left center to score Peters and Gene Fitzgerald, and him it tallied the tying run when he completed the circuit on Jensen's double.

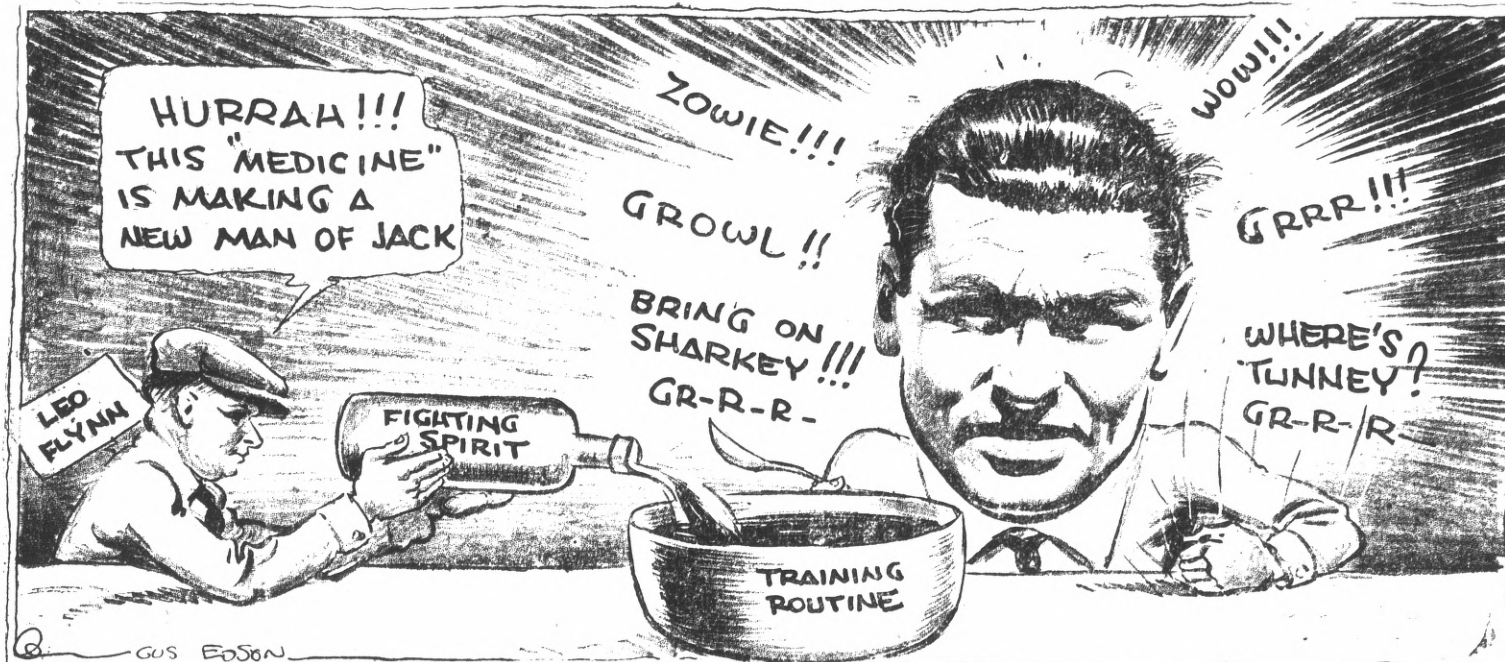

Cy In Tough Luck
Had the contest been only a six-inning affair, the biggest hero of the day—perhaps the biggest hero in the history of Standard Oil baseball—would have been old Cy Cunningham, who, for six innings pitched one of the strongest games of his career.

The venerable right-hander, after feeding Ernie Peters a home run ball in the first inning, then turned back the Barrel House tossers hitless for the next five innings. Old Cy was in rare form, up until the fatal seventh, allowing but one hit—the home run by Peters in the first—and fanning out seven hitters. His most sparkling pitching performance was that of fanning Ray Fitzgerald, Bunny Muth and Jensen in the second inning. But the contest went seven innings—not six—and old Cy lost his chance to become a hero. For a victory would have come more put the Refiners up on practically even terms with the Barrel House and a play-off might have resulted in the event that neither team was defeated in their other games still on the schedule.

Peters Smashes One
There are a number of dents on the corrugated iron roof of the long Mexican shack beyond the left field fence—some a little deeper than others, perhaps. But it is almost a certainty that the ball Ernie Peters slammed over in the first inning of yesterday's game made a dent in the roof as deep as any of them, Ernie put every ounce of his weight behind the swing, sending the ball over on almost a dead line. It gave the Barrel Housers their first run—the only one, in fact, that they were able to gather until their rally in the seventh.

The Refiners tied the score in the second when Peppin doubled, advanced to third on McCoy's sacrifice and spiked the platter on Bradbury's long sacrifice fly to right.

Hansen's triple to right center and an error by Artie Schimpff gave the Refiners a run in the third. They tallied once again in the fourth when Peppin gained a life on Gillan's boot, was sacrificed along a notch by McCoy and scored on Duncan's single.

Rally In Seventh
As related above, the big blow-off took place in the seventh. Old Cy Cunningham had allowed but one hit up until that time, and the fans were all pulling for the old timer to retire the Barrel House and get credit for a brilliant one-hit game. But it was not in the cards for old Cy to win. Artie Schimpff fled out to Red Johnson, but Ernie Peters came through with a single. Gene Fitzgerald then followed with a double to send Peters to third. This brought up Gene's kid brother, Ray, and the latter slammed one on a line over short to score Ernie and Gene. Ray counted a minute later when Jensen rattled the boards in right field for a two bagger. Larry Gillin followed with another double against the right field fence to score Jensen with the fourth run of the inning. Freitas relieved Cunningham at this juncture and forced Buttsbach to roll out in.

LEATHERPUSHER FANS PROMISED GLASSY FIGHTS

By far the biggest crowd to ever attend a boxing show in these parts will be on hand Friday night when the El Cerrito Club opens its doors. Thirty rounds of boxing are billed. Three six round fights and three four rounders will be offered. Interest has never been shown as it is for this show according to Joseph Rossi, promoter. Ticket orders are better than at any time he has been staging bouts. And one reason, says Rossi, is because Pete Meyer and Tim Vahey two former main event favorites are both billed on the same card. Pete got his start around here when Harry Eigel promoting shows in Richmond nabbed him with his celebrated brother George and threw Pete Meyer in the ring with George.

He was just back from Australia where he had beat every thing they had, George also wanted a few fights to take on Oakland Jimmy Duffy. In fact promoter Simpson was about to sign George and Duffy up for his main event. Then the long range to be forgotten bout with Pete Meyer. In a few rounds George Eigel had taken more punches than he had in his whole career and the referee humanely stopped the fight when he was helpless on the floor.

But the Eigel boys thought it was a fluke. Meyer could not do that again. Who was Meyer any way that he should beat the man who had beat the champion welterweight in Australia and many other good ones. So brother Harry rematched the two and it took Meyer just two rounds to again knock George Eigel out. Ever since then Pete has been a card around here and in San Francisco and Oakland. Friday night he will meet Billy Hickam, touch middleweight from San Jose. Will he again put over the sleep producer? Tim Vahey the side kick of Meyers who is under the same management will box the six round

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

I DO not recall offhand that a long-distance swimming feud has ever been smoked up. This is one sport which has not lent itself to the ballyhoo, probably because of the fact that long-distance swimmers do not occur simultaneously.

However, it now appears that some rivalry may be stirred up within the very near future.

George Young, winner of the Wrigley Catalina Channel swim entered in the Wrigley swim at Toronto, Canada, on August 31. There is a strong possibility that Edward F. Keating, New York swimming instructor, and winner of the recent Lake George 26-mile swim, will also enter.

Keating, according to American coaches, is better than Young, the Canadian. They say that Keating has too much early speed for Young, and that in any match race Keating would pull Young's cork, that is, run him into the ground.

If both go to the post in the Toronto marathon, it is safe to say that national interest will be centered in their race. Young, conqueror of Norman Ross and other great swimmers, has already proved his class, although Keating defeated a stronger field under more trying conditions in the Lake George test.

Keating's Speed Is Vital
Lloyd Kahn, the Nebraska miller, owes his success to the fact that he ran sprint races and cross-country races before concentrating on the mile. In that way he developed speed plus endurance. Keating developed speed as a 10-mile swimmer, and it is this speed which makes him so formidable in any gathering of long-distance swimmers.

Good for Two Long Swims
HARRY SEIXAS, trainer of Miss Eva Morrison, Jewish distance swimmer from Boston, and Mrs. Lottie Schoemmel, among others, takes issue with my recent assertion that one long distance swim "kills" a swimmer for keeps.

I ran into Commodore Seixas on the way down from Lake George, and we had quite a lengthy discussion on long distance swimming in general.

"You're all wrong on that," he told me. "Two swims can finish their career, but I don't agree that one completed swim will do it. I believe that Young has another good swim left in his system and so has Keating and Gertrude Ederle."

He could find no adequate explanation, however, of the fact that four English Channel swimmers were forced to quit at Lake George, while a dark-horse, who had never started, was the winner. HAL HIXON was telling of a Mid-West fighter who had been absent from the ring for six months. "He's suffering from a broken collarbone, isn't he, Hal?" someone asked. "No, a broken contract," wagged Hixon.

semi. Tim wanted a main event but when he saw Pete was on the top spot he obligingly took the fight below Pete. Tim has a date with a dark skinned son of West Oakland, called Johnny Ramos. Ramos says he will surely defeat Tim and then wants a crack at Meyers. This has been promised him should he defeat Tim.

Manuel Fray and Johnny Lawson in the six round special are attracting as much attention as are the two top bouts. Lawson is training like a Trojan and expects to win over Fray and then wants a shot at Joe Limas.

Cliff Holtenger and Crown of El Cerrito will do his daily dozen against Walter Peterson, and there will be some pretty fireworks shot off.

By Gus Edson Dempsey And Sharkey Await Gong For Tonight's Battle

By DAMON RUNYON
(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, July 20.—Again we have before us one of those mighty pagan spectacles that they call a prize fight, which have strangely defied the march of civilization for centuries and come at intervals as a reminder that human beings are still only a hop ahead of their club-swinging forebears of the raw-meat-eating age.

Out of the pugilistic past there stalks tomorrow night at the Yankee stadium the scowling, hairy-legged fellow known as the Manassa man mauler, who once inflamed the popular imagination by the fury of his fists, and who comes tonight seeking his lost youth.

And nearly ninety thousand ordinarily sane and law-bidding citizens will be present. Most of them with cheers in their throats for Jack Dempsey, for most of them are on the same trial with him.

He is the gladiatorial ghost of their own departed youthful hopes, and if he should live again the pride and power of those other days, the ordinarily sane and law-abiding citizens will feel that they, too, are young again.

But many of the 90,000 citizens younger and fresher, will be cheering for the rubbery looking youth in the other corner—the one called Jack Sharkey, who is the representative of the new generation.

And somewhere in the background, a bald man with a cigar between his teeth, and a cane swung over his arm, will be quietly watching the count-up of a gate of over $1,000,000.

This man is George Tex Rickard, who urbanely trades between the generations and on the astonishing human lust for blood and battle that is a spiritual throw-back to the apes.

In all the long history of the manly art of scrambling ears no pugilistic presentation that did not involve a championship title has attracted as much interest as this.

The interest is largely due to the man Dempsey, for eight years holder of the heavyweight title and the subject of about as much publicity as any individual in the United States has ever received.

He lost the title to Gene Tunney, ex-marine, in a dull, dreary, rain-washed struggle of ten rounds in the Sesqui-Centennial stadium in Philadelphia last September, offering the least spirited resistance of any champion in losing his title in many years.

He is meeting tomorrow night a young fellow who was in the United States navy when Dempsey was in his hey-day, and who is either one of the greatest fighters or one of the most amazing bluffs that pugilism has ever known.

Josef Cukoschay, who was called Battling Siki in the navy is the man. Oddly enough, one of the names he now uses for the convenience of the ring was adopted from the man he is fighting to-night.

Cukoschay is of Lithuanian parentage. He was born in Binghamton, N. Y., but claims Boston as his home.

When he laced on his first pair of boxing gloves, Jack Dempsey was his idol and he took the name of Jack from Dempsey, and the name of Sharkey from old Tom Sharkey, the Irish-born heavyweight pride of the navy in other days, who will be at the ringside tomorrow night.

After Dempsey lost his title to Tunney strange humors traveled in the wake of the battle, as is nearly always in the case in these affairs.

It was said that he was mentally harassed by his troubles with Jack Kearns, his former manager; that he was suffering from an organic ailment, and even that he was given a jolt of some disturbing element in his milk.

Also there were rumors that he was under a "yank" to Tunney, that he deliberately permitted the ex-marine to win his title, for the purpose of a betting coup, a rumor that could never quite be reconciled with the betting odds of 2 to 1 on Dempsey at the opening bell.

Nor does it square with the fact that, whereas Dempsey got $715,000 for the fight with Tunney, he is now getting $250,000 for the meeting with Sharkey.

But the public is always reluctant to accept the passing of an old champion until he is flat on his back, and thus it is that Dempsey remains the magnet that is drawing the million dollar gate tomorrow night. The man who wins this battle will undoubtedly meet Gene Tunney for the title in Chicago in September.

Sharkey may enter the ring the favorite at 2 to 1 in the betting, though Dempsey will be the sentimental favorite. The gentlemen who fix the betting odds have no sentiment about these matters, they simply do not think it is in the cards for Dempsey to defeat the immutable law of the game, which is "They don't come back."

At thirty-two, and after years of easy living, Dempsey is meeting a man eight years younger, who is just as big as Dempsey, just as strong, much faster, and a far better boxer, lacking only the punch to give him 100 per cent advantage over the ex-champion.

Dempsey's admirers are relying on Dempsey's punch to offset the Sharkey youth, and speed, and all the rest, but they are thinking if the Dempsey punch of some years ago. No one can rightly say what the Dempsey punch is today.

Then there is the tale that Dempsey injured his left arm in training at Saratoga, and it is a sure thing no one-arm man can beat the nimble Lithuanian from Boston.

When you consider all the circumstances, you can see that there is some basis for the favoritism of Sharkey. He opened at 7 to 5 in the betting, and has gone as high as 2 to 1 in spots, and has held steady at an average of 8 to 5.

The reports on Dempsey's training at Saratoga have been of the usual varying nature when the experts get to reporting on these things.

I watched him a couple of days and thought he looked well physically, but lacking in his old

HEART TROUBLE Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter here in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Morton of Stockton was in such great pain due to Heart Trouble that it affected her left hand. She could neither walk or rest with the slightest comfort. All the physicians she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she had the first rest after four weeks of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that city she has sent the following testimonial to the Fong Wan Herb Co.

OWES HER LIFE TO FONG WAN HERBS
Stockton, Cal., March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co.:
I have been a sufferer with valvular trouble of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, who were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live.

I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co., and to the amazement of all who attended me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for their kindness.

INTERVENTION OF MARINES IS GIVEN PROTEST

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Protestations for a strong note of protest against intervention in Nicaragua by American marines proceeded today in the resolutions committee of the Pan-American Federation of Labor convention.

It will be brought before the body tomorrow and, it is expected, will be passed unanimously. Meanwhile the convention having finished all other business, recessed until tomorrow morning.

The Nicaraguan resolution, it was learned, will be a substitute for the fiery denunciation offered yesterday by Salomon De La Selva, Nicaraguan delegate, which condemned as unwarranted and brutal the slaying of hundreds of Nicaraguans by the marines in the fight of Ocel.

It will be a sharp protest over maintaining marines in Nicaragua and their use in "policing" that country, but will be couched in more diplomatic language than the De La Selva broadside.

De La Selva is a member of the Resolutions Committee, of which Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor is chairman. Luis N. Morones, Mexican Secretary of Commerce, is another member.

Other resolutions criticizing the Latin-American policy of the United States are also expected to be reported. In all 14 resolutions are under consideration by the committee.

REGISTRATION OF CARS SHOWS HUGE INCREASE

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—California's motor vehicle registration for the first half of 1927 totals 1,625,766, an increase of 130,875 over the number of machines licensed during the corresponding period last year, it was announced today by Frank G. Snook, chief of the State division of motor vehicles.

"The report shows a net gain of 15.4 percent in the number of vehicles in a year," Snook declared. "This proves that the so-called 'point of saturation' is far from being reached and gives added evidence of the general prosperity of the State."

The tabulation announced by Snook does not include the cars of non-residents of the machines exempt from license fees, such as those owned by cities, counties, the State government and public service corporations. These would increase the total by several thousand, it was estimated.

With an increase in registrations recorded for every county in the State, Los Angeles county tops the list with 645,549 vehicles. San Francisco is second with 129,161 and Alameda county third with 119,967.

Other counties with large totals were listed as follows: San Diego 62,003, Santa Clara 46,105, Orange 40,851, Sacramento 23,845, San Bernardino 27,933, San Joaquin 33,921, Riverside 25,412, Stanislaus 21,907, Contra Costa, 19,590, Santa Barbara 19,009, San Mateo, 17,870, Monterey 13,611 and Humboldt 12,701.

I came to see the Chou & Chew Herbs and after taking one dose of their herbs I was greatly relieved. I continued to take the herbs for a few weeks and I am all well.

Refiners Lose Deciding Game

Not the least bit disheartened, the Refiners showed their fight by staging a rally on their own hook in their half of the seventh. Spot Duncan was safe when Peppin nudged his roller, and went to third on Hansen's single. Chick Autry walked to fill the bags. Johnson followed with a grounder to Schimpff, with Duncan scoring while the sorrel-topped Refiner was being thrown out at first. This made the score 5 to 4, favor of the Barrel House, and Peppin tried hard for a hit to tie the count. But the best he could do was hit a grounder to Gillan, who threw to first to end the game.

Although they were defeated, the Refiners cannot be given too much praise for their splendid battle. Weakened by the absence of their keystone combination, Barram and Zimmerman, the Refiners nevertheless managed to give the Barrel House tossers a run for their money. The losers played errorless ball in the field, led by the veteran Chick Autry, who played one of the greatest fielding games of his brilliant career as a first sacker. Chick made a number of pretty plays and appears to be a sure bet to finish the season with a perfect fielding average.

And Paris Buttischbach also comes in for his share of praise, pitching one of his usual steady games. Buttischbach allowed but six hits which he kept pretty well scattered.

Aimee Again On Trip As Rift Is Rumored

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—Renewed reports of internal dissension at Angelus Temple today followed receipt of word that Aimee Semple McPherson, its evangelist founder and head, had abandoned a revival at Alton, Ill., to hurry home for "business reasons."

The Evangelist's mother, Miss Minnie Kennedy, today expressed the hope of retiring from the temple to engage in "personal social work."

She denied today that there was any trouble at the Temple necessitating the Evangelist's return but expressed the opinion that her daughter ought to be home, attending to business, instead of making these trips all over the country.

Good Feeling in "Movie Colony"

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—An "era of good feeling" today is reported prevailing in the motion picture industry.

A resolution holding in advance the movement to enforce equity shop rules was adopted at a meeting of actors last night.

"Producers have given us assurance that conditions of which we complain will be corrected," said Conrad Nagel, who with Milton Sills, ardent adoption of the resolution, basing their argument on the promising outlook of the conference now being held under the auspices of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

"Leaders in all branches of the industry are doing hard and earnest work to correct wrong conditions," declared Nagel.

In the Academy series of conferences to cut excessive production cost, the producers last night met with the technicians, having previously conferred with directors, writers and actors.

Millions of dollars can be saved by quick adoption of modern methods, according to the technicians, who pointed out that a photograph now provides a background which formerly necessitated the erection of colossal sets. Use of expensive Kleig lights also is passing, it was said.

A second round of conferences will begin Friday night, when producers will again met with directors.

Judge Tells 'Em How To Quit Fag Habit

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—Prescribing a brand new cure for the tobacco habit, Justice of the Peace E. F. Lennon of Red Bluff today sentenced Fred Robinson, 25, to give up smoking for one year as a penalty for starting a grass fire with a carelessly tossed cigarette stub.

The judge's reluctant tobacco cure patient was brought before him by Forestry officials who fought the blaze caused by Robinson's cigarette.

"If you quit smoking during working hours," said Judge Lennon in passing sentence, "you can quit for an entire year, and if you quit for a year, you can quit for a hundred years."

FAMILIAR SIGHTS

In the home, as in office, economy of effort is a most practical form of thrift. It is because thousands of housewives have recognized this fact that the extension telephone has become a "familiar sight."

A saver of countless steps, the extension telephone is one of many improvements in household equipment which have made it possible for the woman in the home to use more profitably and more pleasantly the energy wasted on needless tasks. The cost is but a few cents a week.
